A NEW STOVE.—GREAT NOVELTY.—In the construction of the BURTON REGISTER STOVE, it was the first care of the inventor, WILLIAM S. BURTON, to avail himself of the most valued of modern improvements in the art of heating, and, secondly, so to modify and alter the receptacle for the coals as at once to obtain the simplest and most perfect combustion; after a long series of experiments, he has, by the substitution of a graceful form of shell for the present clumsy and ill-adapted bars, succeeded in producing a stove which, for soft and brilliant light, as well as purity and quantity of heat, is far beyond his most sanguine expectations, while for cleanliness and cheerfulness it is utterly unapproachable.
